

Water Treatment

1. All water from spoil and project site drains into a purpose-built pond.

2. Water is treated using a process involving activated carbon filters.

3. PFAS sticks to the filters, leaving behind clean water that meets Australian drinking water standards

4. Full carbon filters are replaced and taken to a licensed offsite facility for safe disposal.

5. Clean water is used for dust suppression on site

